HOUSE&HOME

The New York Times

Louis Kahn Project; inset, Harriet Pattison

FILM

Windows on a Lost Father

Louis Kahn's buildings graced cities from La Jolla, Calif. (the Salk Institute, far left), to Ahmedabad, India. The documentary film "My Architect," part of the New Directors/ New Films festival, was made by Nathaniel Kahn, a son of Louis Kahn and a mistress. "The film is very much the story of a son looking for his father," said Mr. Kahn (inset, with his father, circa 1970). It includes interviews with I. M. Pei and Frank Gehry, and will be shown on March 29 at Alice Tully Hall, www.filmlinc.com, or (212) 875 5050, and on March 30 at MoMA Film at the Gramercy, 127 East 23 Street, (212) 777-4900. Admission, $12; $9 for members.